

World renowned cardiologist, Stephen Sinatra, MD, reveals the secret to...

Giving your pet the #1 heart fuel they need for boundless energy and a lifetime of optimal heart health.

Spending time with your pet protects YOUR heart in so many ways...what are you doing to return the favor?

Dear Pet-lover,

I'm just like you. I couldn't imagine not living with pets. Their unconditional love, loyalty and companionship knows no bounds.

And, believe it or not, having a pet as part of your family gives you very real, tangible health benefits—from boosting your immune system and reducing anxiety, to lowering your risk of cardiovascular disease.

They make you laugh and cheer you up when you're feeling down. They'll keep you company on rainy afternoons or cold winter nights.

Playing with your pet can actually boost your levels of oxytocin—one of your body's number one "feel good" chemicals and the same chemical that helps a new mother bond with her child.

They can even help relieve your pain.

In a study of people who had undergone total joint replacement surgery, the ones who spent time with therapy dogs needed 28 percent less pain medication.

Isn't that amazing?!

If you ask me, the only downside to having a pet...is that they can't live as long as we do.

Saying goodbye to your pet can be heartbreaking. But what if I could help your pets live longer, healthier, happier and with more energy—even well into their "senior" years?

My name is Stephen Sinatra, MD. I'm a board-certified cardiologist and I've had the privilege of helping thousands of people lead healthier, happier lives for over 40 years.

In that time I've had the opportunity to witness so many revolutions in the ways we approach heart health, but coenzyme Q10 (CoQ10) remains, in my opinion, one of the biggest.

This vitamin-like antioxidant nutrient has been making headlines for more than 20 years, and the research continues to excite me...

And if you've been following my writing, then you already know that this amazing nutrient comes with a huge array of energizing, age-defying, heart-protecting benefits that you simply can't get anywhere else.

Fuel for the energy of life—for age-defying vitality, endurance and natural "oomph"!

Your body uses CoQ10 to create adenosine triphosphate, or ATP.

ATP is quite literally the energy of life.

All the cells in your body use CoQ10 to create ATP to do their jobs. You couldn't walk, talk, think, breathe, or eat without ATP. And even minor drops in ATP can leave you feeling sluggish...while significant drops can come with some pretty dire outcomes.

That's just one reason (and it's a biggie) that maintaining a steady supply of CoQ10 is absolutely critical.

And your heart needs it the most.

Because, not only does it beat non-stop (even while you're asleep and nearly every other muscle in your body is at rest) 24 hours a day, it is responsible for supplying every cell, organ and system in your body with nutrient and oxygen-rich blood.

Perhaps you're already taking CoQ10—then you know just what it can do for your energy and vitality. Maybe your doctor prescribed it because you're also taking a cholesterol-lowering statin drug.

If you're not taking CoQ10, maybe it's because you haven't seen the research showing that it can also...

- Slow the effects of aging
- Help refill your energy stores after activities
- Promote healthy blood pressure levels
- Protect you from free radicals to help ensure healthy, young-looking skin

The more I learned about the importance of CoQ10 and its role in energy production and heart protection, the more I realized my pets' hearts needed just as much support and protection as my patients' hearts (and my own!).

For more than 25 years I'd been prescribing CoQ10 to my patients and I'd seen some near-miraculous results. So I thought to myself...

...why not give CoQ10 to my beloved pets?

Your pets rely on the same energy of life that you do—so why wouldn't you give them the same heart-nourishing fuel?

My three beloved dogs, Chewie, Kuma, and Charlie, all got to take advantage of this life-giving nutrient, and they all exceeded the life expectancy of their respective breeds—living to the ripe old ages (for dogs) of 14 to 16 years.

They weren't sick. They weren't tired or lethargic. They were happy young pups, around three years old, when I first started giving them CoQ10.

Because I realized that, just like humans, our pets have hearts...

And, just like humans, their hearts require a constant supply of ATP, the energy of life, to beat and pump and sustain life and energy...

So, like humans, CoQ10 is absolutely critical to maintaining a healthy heart and cardiovascular system.

Plus, like humans, pets die of heart failure. So, I wanted to help support energy production in their hearts, I wanted to protect them from the age-accelerating effects of free radicals...

I wanted to do everything I could to keep them feeling young, vibrant and filled with energy.

That's why I developed a human-grade, easy-to-use, Liquid CoQ10 to add to your pets' diet.

Your pet can't tell you when they're feeling tired or run down. Their sole drive in life is to be a part of your family—to make you happy.

And here's the thing, in the initial stages of heart failure, there are almost no symptoms at all.

All we can do is give our pets the best possible love, attention and nutrition we can to reduce their risk of heart problems and ensure their best chances at a long, happy, healthy life.

Of course, like all dogs, my dogs did eventually pass away. But it was from old age and natural causes.

None of my dogs ever had heart problems and, starting today, you can use Ageless Paws' Liquid CoQ10 to protect your pets' hearts as well.

Ageless Paws' Liquid CoQ10 uses a liposomal ubiquinone, a form of CoQ10 that is easy for your pet's body to absorb. And the convenient dropper bottle makes it simple to add the desired amount of drops to your dog's or cat's food.

Your pet does so much for you—how are you returning the favor?

As a cardiologist and a genuine animal lover, I have an incredible appreciation for the healing power pets bring to humans.

I've often "prescribed" getting a pet to my cardiac patients to reduce their stress and loneliness, to relieve pain, and improve their overall quality of life.

Our pets are unconditionally loving and adoring creatures—their love actually helps protect and heal our hearts.

That's why I try to do everything I can to return that love, protection and adoration. And that includes a daily dose of Ageless Paws' Liquid CoQ10.

Watch the difference in your pet's energy, endurance and vigor when you add Liquid CoQ10 to their diet. They'll be happier, healthier and I guarantee they'll love you for it.

But don't take my word for it—let your pet try it, risk-free, for the next 30 days.

Just add a few drops of Ageless Paws' Liquid CoQ10 to your pet's food (even picky eaters won't know it's there) and watch your beloved pet's energy and endurance soar.

Even older pets can regain their playful, puppy-like vigor.

But, most importantly, you'll know that you're doing something powerful and important to protect their heart, support their health and maybe even extend, not just their life, but their quality of life.

I guarantee they'll love it. And they'll love you for it.

But if you or your pet aren't 100% satisfied at any time or for any reason, you have a full 30 days to send it back for a full refund (less shipping).

You have nothing at all to lose. And...

You just might gain a few extra years of love, companionship and cherished memories with your favorite furry friends.

Wouldn't your pet do it for you if they could? I know mine would. So please don't wait—order your risk-free supply of Ageless Paws' Liquid CoQ10 right now.

Sincerely,

Dr. Stephen Sinatra

P.S. Dogs and cats' hearts need just as much love and attention as yours does—physically and emotionally. But all the hugs, scratches, pets and cuddles won't give them the CoQ10 they need to protect against aging, support their energy and endurance—even prolong their healthy lifespan. That's why I designed Liquid CoQ10 with a human-grade CoQ10 that is similar to the form I've been recommending to my patients for decades. I've given it to every one of my dogs and they couldn't have been happier. Show your pets how much you care about their heart. Order your risk-free supply of Liquid CoQ10 today.
